

HOW TO HANDLE COMPREHENSION QUESTIONS

Parts of a comprehension question

- Subject of the question
- Tense word/governor
- Other important words in the questions
- Asking word
- Phrasal/ reference words

SUBJECT OF THE QUESTION

Example

i). When did Paul meet his dad?

Subject

ii). Why should the children in private schools perform well?

Subject

Note: The subject of the question must be the one to begin your answer.

TENSE WORDS

There are two types of tense governors i.e. influencing tense words and accompanying tense words.

Influencing tense words

- do
- did
- does

These tense words are called influencers due to the way they influence the action verbs in the questions.

Tense word

i. When did John visit his uncle?

Subject

Answer: John visited his uncle

ii. Why does the orphan girl curse the day she was born?

iii. What do the writer's teachers say about his performance?

iv. When did Uganda, the pearl of Africa get her independence?

Accompanying tense words

These tense words don't cause any changes on the action verbs, they just give them company. Such tense words include;

- is
- are
- were
- was
- have
- has
- had
- will
- shall
- would
- should
- must
- ought to
- may
- might
- can
- could
- am

Example

Tense word

- i. what must a girl child do to avoid teenage pregnancies?

- ii. Where will the show take place?

- iii. Why were the children crying?

- iv. When could the writer of the story go back to school?

ASKING WORDS

These are words that are used to phrase the questions. These include;

- ❖ What
- ❖ When
- ❖ Where
- ❖ Why
- ❖ Which
- ❖ Who
- ❖ Whom
- ❖ How
- ❖ Whose
- ❖ How many
- ❖ How long

What

This asking word usually requires you to give a specific thing

2. At what time of the day will the play be staged? (evening)

Where

This asking word requires you to give a place/ venue. Again you have to use the appropriate preposition e.g.

In_ building/room/hall/ village/town/city/district/ country/continent

At_ social service centres e.g. at Namirembe Parents' Primary School, at Centenary Bank, at Shell Petro Station, at Katwe Police Station

Example

1. Where did the writer of the passage and his aunt meet? (Sheraton Hotel)

2. Where was Ivar, the Boneless born? (Norway)

Why

This asking word requires you to give either a reason/ justification or a purpose/aim.

When giving a reason, you may use conjunctions like because, since, for, due to, because of, owing to.

Example

That day, Stellah did not go to school. This is because she was very sick and tired.

Question

1. Why didn't Stellah go to school that day?

When giving a purpose/aim, we use conjunctions like in order to, so as to, so that, such that, in order that

Example

Robinah boarded a taxi to the bank. She wanted to deposit her school fees.

Question

1. Why did Robinah go to the bank?

Which

This one requires you to give a specific thing or person. In most cases, this specific person or thing should begin the sentence.

1. Who wrote the poem? (Kasolo Amos)

2. Who spoke first on the sports day? (Mr. Ivan Tenywa, the games and sports teacher of NPPS)

Whom

This one also requires you to give a person but at the end.

Example

1. By whom was the story written? (Moses Kifule)

2. To whom did the angry girl talk rudely? (the head teacher)

How

This asking word commands you to state the way/ manner. We mostly talk about the way using prepositions like by and through or sometimes adverbs of manner or sometimes answer directly.

Examples.

Farmers ought to spray their crops regularly. This will help them to control crop pests like caterpillars etc.

Question

1. How can farmers control crop pests?

Farmers can control crop pests by spraying their crops regularly.

2. Whose shopping list has been shown above? (Katogo Enock)

How many

This one simply wants the number.

Example

1. How many stanzas does the above have? (three)

2. How many stanzas make up the above poem?

3. How many stanzas are in the poem above?

Note: in questions of how many, if the question has a helping verb being followed by a preposition, you must begin your answer with There.

Example

1. How many days are in a week?

There are seven days in a week.

2. How many birds were on the tree? (twenty)

How many mangoes have been in the fridge? (twelve)

How long

This one always wants duration.

Examples

1. How long did the conference last?

The conference lasted two weeks.

2. For how long did the conference last?

The conference lasted for two weeks.

Note: you should only present the duration using the preposition for only if it is used in the question but it's not used, don't use it.

CLOSED QUESTIONS

These are the questions that asked beginning with helping verbs or modal verbs (the ones we referred to as tense words above). These closed question must be answered beginning with either No or Yes, but still you ought to answer in full sentences.

Examples

1. Did the writer enjoy his holiday?

Yes, the writer enjoyed his holiday.

2. Could John and his family buy the items they wanted?

No, John and his family could not buy the items they wanted.

PREPOSITIONAL QUESTIONS

- These are the questions that asked beginning with prepositions such as; on, in, to, at, about, by, through, against, for etc.
- When you are handling such questions, you must use the preposition that began the question to present the answer.

Example

1. In which year did writer join Namirembe Parents' Primary School?

The writer joined Namirembe Parents' Primary School in 2018.

2. From whom did Benjamin receive the envelope? (his brother who lives in UK)

3. At what time will the debate start? (4:30p.m.)

Note: Questions that ask about time of the day may use the preposition used in the question.

Examples

1. At what of the day may the wedding party start?

The wedding party may start in the evening.

PHRASAL /REFERENCE WORDS

These are the words in the question which may be referring you where you should get the answer.

These reference words include;

- According to the poem,.....
- According to the passage,.....
- In the passage,.....
- Apart from.....
- Besides.....
- According to the writer.....

These reference words mustn't be taken for granted, actually it's better to write them before the answer regardless of where they have placed in the question.

Example

1. According to the passage, to which school does the writer go?

According to the passage, the writer goes to Namirembe Parents' Primary School.

2. Who ruin the future of young girls according to the first stanza?

According to the first stanza, sugar daddies ruin the future of young girls.

3. Besides covid19, which other disease may make someone cough?
(tuberculosis)

GIVING ANOTHER WORD OR GROUP OF WORDS

This concept is very common in upper primary comprehension. When handling this part, it's better to visit the text where the given word was used.

Any word or words you think of, you must try them in the place of the given and see if there is still flow in the sentence. If the flow is there, it means you anticipated word(s) is correct but the sentences sounds weird, it means your words is wrong.

Try these

Ritah reached school very early on Monday.

1. Give another word(s) to mean the same as reached.

Henry and his family spent a fortnight in Kenya and they returned to Uganda.

2. Give another word(s) to mean the same as fortnight.

SUGGESTING SUITABLE TITLES TO PASSAGES, STORIES AND POEMS

This is the easiest task in comprehension though some learners fail it.

- The suitable title must come from the most dominant concept in the text.
- A suitable title can be descriptive of narrative

Sample

Last year in December, Isaac and his family travelled to Kasese. They had gone there mainly to chill their minds as well as having fun together. While in Kasese, they visited multiple places such as; Mt. Rwenzori, Queen Elizabeth National Park and many others.

Question

1. Suggest a suitable to this story.
