Oh! How I love you my home
For peaceful you are
A place condemnation, but correction
To shape behaviour
For peaceful living is promoted

How good you are, my home
Better than all places you are
A training ground for responsibilities
Cooking we do, cleaning we are involved
Surely the future is bright.

Home my home, in you I delight
You give me chance to know relatives
Sisters, brothers, parents, grandma
all I know
For satisfied all of us are
As food Mummy provided
And protection Daddy gives
Prayers for you my home

Our plane had just landed. We were to undergo several security checks before leaving the airport. Police officers' dogs were directed to our luggage. Security agents searched our bodies with metal detectors. This was compulsory because the crime rate had risen.

While in the queue, I saw a particular lady who had sat next to me in the plane. Throughout the flight, she had not mentioned any word to me. May be she could not speak any of the languages Ugandans speak. "Hold this handbag for me. I would like to use the washrooms," she said as she put her small bag on my shoulder. She was so much in a hurry that it dropped down. All the people around could sense that it was unusually heavy. "Come back!" I shouted to catch her attention and that of the security officers. To my surprise, the lady ran and disappeared. I sensed danger and shouted at people to move away from the bag that was on the floor. The police moved swiftly and stopped her.

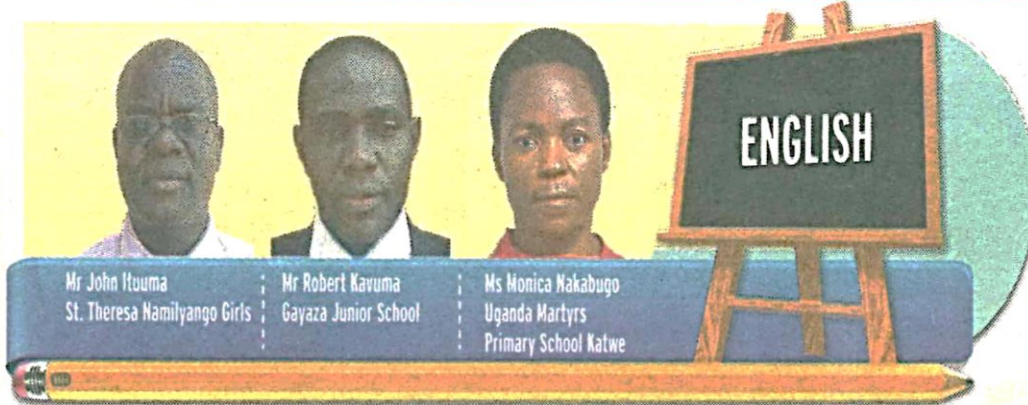

Soon, sniffer dogs were searching her bag as I watched from a distance. The dogs barked uncontrollably. When the police moved to inspect the bag, they found cocaine skillfully hidden between banknotes. My heart almost stopped beating when a man was arrested. The face nails and hair were exactly like those of the woman who sat next to me in the aero plane. This man had disguised himself as a woman. He was handcuffed and taken to the police station. He had committed a serious crime. A week later, I was summoned to appear before court as a witness to testify against him.

SECTION B

21. Read the passage below carefully and in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

Karofe was born like any other child. Two days later, his mother was discharged with the healthy baby. At the age of one year, he looked like a child of three years of age. His mother showed him love by giving him real nutrition.

His father, Mr. Kashoma, was a businessman. While his wife was a teacher at Obodo Junior School. During the school term, Karofe needed someone to stay with. The parents took the trouble to find a person that would do this job to their wishes.

Muzera, a twenty five year old lady, was their choice. She had trained at Safari Marie Domestic School and got a certificate as a baby care taker.

One Monday afternoon, Muzera wasn't able to prepare the baby's midday meal at the usual time.

There was hardly any water in the house: She couldn't prepare the usual Irish potato meal. The little water available could be used for preparing a simple maize flour porridge. This would also take a shorter time so she put it on fire. By this time, the boy was crying.

Strangely enough, Karofe fell asleep. This was chance for Muzera to collect some water from the well. She left the porridge on a slow burning stove.

During the dry season, water at the only well in Kiziba village was scarce. And at this time of the day, there was a long line of people and thirsty livestock. Muzera thought that since it was school time, the line would be shorter. She was wrong. When Karofe woke up he was hungrier than before. The tasty but hot porridge was on the stove. He crawled to help himself.

What followed was a very loud scream which attracted the neighbours. The boy's face was white with porridge. His legs and arms were all red.

By the time Muzera came back, the baby had been given first aid. She then rang her mistress who arrived shortly with the school ambulance. At St. John's Turuguda Health Center, the boy received treatment. The health worker said that the patient would soon get well. The mother was thanked for being responsible. She had bought a mobile phone for Muzera. Two weeks later, Karofe left the hospital.

QUESTIONS

21. Read the poem below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

I am very scared throughout the night,
For the bad news I have received,
That the examination time has changed,
From the second week of November to June.

I feel a lot of trouble as the dream goes on,
I don't see any time for enough revision,
That will make me remain at the top of the class,
Which is the only thing my parents have known.

Can I do what I've never tried?
To pass examinations in a bad way,
My friend tells me to try cheating in examination
But, who will accept my results?

"Wake up my son," I hear a masculine voice,
I opened my eyes with difficulty,
"It was a bad dream",
I say quietly to myself.

A healthy body in a healthy mind
So goes the saying
Reminding you and I
To make sure we're healthy
For health is the cornerstone of life

I should eat balanced food
And so should everyone else
We need to build our bodies
Protect our bodies,
Besides getting energy

Life's enemies are not asleep
Crawling and flying insects
Mr. Cockroach and Mr. Housefly
Daily guests to the latrine
Yet regular comers to our homes

Rise up fellow Ugandans
Arm yourselves and fight
Clear bushes; Mr. Mosquito's home
Fence your bed and keep him away
And have a healthy mind in a healthy body

SECTION B

21. Read the story below and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

Katibu came back from school. His mother was happy to see him. He got a cup of porridge and a piece of cassava from the kitchen. He ate and removed his uniform.

His mother was already preparing supper. The beans were ready but she had not put in the salt. The water was put to boil but the maize flour had not been brought.

So Katibu was given some money to go to buy the missing items for supper. He put the money on the table. He put his school bag on top of the table. When he put on his daily clothes, he dashed to the shop.

The shopkeeper gave him what he asked for. When Katibu put his hand in the pocket, it was empty. There was no money. He didn't know what had happened. He then told the shopkeeper that his mother had promised to pay the money the next day. The shopkeeper, knowing, Katibu's mother very well accepted what Katibu said.

As soon as Katibu reached home, he started crying. He told his mother that some bad boys had beaten him and stolen the money. His mother was very sorry for him. She was very happy that the shopkeeper had accepted to give them the items without paying.

The following day, Katibu's mother woke up very early to prepare breakfast. Then she wanted to check if Katibu's bag had all school requirements. When she lifted it, she saw some money; it was exactly the one she had given to her son.

She got annoyed and thought her son was a thief. She called him out of bed. She asked him about the money. Katibu now realized that his mother had found out the lie. Katibu knelt down and told his mother the truth. He did not know where he had put the money.

His mother was sorry for him. She told him where the money was. Katibu was happy to hear that good news. He promised that he would never tell lies again.
