FOREWORD

The Ministry of Education and Sports, through the National Curriculum Development Centre (NCDC), aligned the Advanced Level Curriculum with the competency-based Lower Secondary Curriculum (LSC) to ensure a smooth learner transition from lower secondary to advanced level.

The two-year aligned Advanced Secondary Curriculum adopted learner-centered approaches, inquiry-based, and discovery methods. The learning outcomes give the learner hands-on experiences in real-life situations while being cognizant of different learner abilities and learning styles. The syllabus focuses on assessment for learning with emphasis on criterion-referenced assessment. It further provides learners with the opportunity to enhance the 21st-century skills and values that were acquired at the lower secondary level.

This Literature in English syllabus promotes learner's application of knowledge and skills in relation to what happens in their communities, promotes acquisition of Higher-order Thinking Skills (HOTS) such as inquiry, creativity and innovation, decision-making, critical thinking and problem-solving. It calls for use of learner-centred pedagogies with hands-on experience by the learners in real life situations, while acknowledging different learner abilities and learning styles.

As the Minister responsible for Education, I endorse this syllabus as the official document for teaching and learning Literature in English at the Advanced Level of secondary education in Uganda.

Hon. Janet Kataaha Museveni

First Lady and Minister of Education & Sports

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The National Curriculum Development Centre (NCDC) is indebted to the Government of Uganda for financing the adaptation of the Advanced Level Curriculum for Secondary Education in Uganda.

Our gratitude goes to the Ministry of Education and Sports for overseeing the adaptation of the curriculum, the Curriculum Task Force of the Ministry of Education and Sports for the oversight role and making timely decisions whenever necessary, and members of the public who made helpful contributions towards shaping this curriculum.

NCDC is also grateful to Members of Parliament, schools, universities, and other tertiary institutions, the writing panels, and professional bodies, for their input in the design and development of the Advanced Level Curriculum. To all those who worked behind the scenes to finalise the adaptation process of this teaching syllabus, your efforts are invaluable.

NCDC takes responsibility for any shortcomings that might be identified in this publication and welcomes suggestions for effectively addressing the inadequacies. Such comments and suggestions may be communicated to NCDC through P. O Box 7002, Kampala, or Email: admin@ncdc.go.ug or on the Website: www.ncdc.go.ug

1.0 INTRODUCTION

The Advanced Secondary Curriculum has been aligned with the Lower Secondary competency-based model for ease of progression of learners from the Lower to Advanced Secondary Level. The alignment is a result of the analysis of the Advanced Level Curriculum published in 2013, to determine whether the content is:

- i) appropriate.
- ii) high-pitched or overloaded.
- iii) covered at lower secondary.
- iv) obsolete.
- v) repeated in different topics and redundant.

The results from the curriculum analysis revealed that there were overlaps of concepts with what was covered at the Lower Secondary, as well as concepts within different topics of the same subject. In addition, a number of syllabuses had content that is no longer necessary for today's contemporary society and the 21st century.

1.1 Changes in the Curriculum

The alignment of the A-Level Curriculum to that of the Lower Secondary led to changes in the pedagogies of learning from a knowledge- and objective-based, to an integrated and learner-centred competency-based approach. The adapted syllabus, therefore, is a result of rationalising, integrating, and merging content with overlaps and similar skills, dropping topics that had been studied at Lower Secondary, or are no longer critical and relevant for the current learning needs, while upgrading those that were of low competencies to match with the advanced level. The programme planner details the learning progression derived from the learning outcomes. The detailed syllabus section unfolds the learning experiences with corresponding assessment strategies.

This Literature in English syllabus is part of the Advanced Secondary Curriculum. The teacher is encouraged to read the whole syllabus before planning your teaching programme, since many topics have been merged, upgraded, or removed. While aligning this syllabus, efforts were made to ensure a smooth progression of concepts from the Lower Secondary Level, adapting topics and content with familiar features that are of value to the learner and society. In addition, the process of developing this syllabus document removed what was considered obsolete, high pitched as well as content overlaps and overloads.

1.2 Classroom Based Assessment

This syllabus requires classroom learning to be experiential, through the suggested learning activities for the acquisition of the learning outcomes. This is the gist of a learner-centred and activity-based approach to learning, which emphasises the acquisition of required competencies. Formative assessment in Literature in English will focus on the acquisition of knowledge and skills, through performance of the learning activities. The learning activities sprout from the learning outcomes, which are evidenced by acquiring and demonstrating the application of the desired skills, to show that learning has taken place. The sample assessment strategies have been provided to guide the teacher on classroom-based assessment. The teacher can develop more assessment strategies based on the same principles of observation, conversation, and product, for the acquisition of the desired knowledge, skills, values, and attitudes. (See detailed syllabus)

1.3 Learners with Special Educational Needs (SEN)

The Advanced Secondary Curriculum is designed to empower all learners, including those with Special Educational Needs (SEN), to reach their full potential and contribute meaningfully to the nation. By incorporating inclusive strategies, the curriculum ensures equitable access to high-quality learning opportunities, while maintaining high academic standards. It emphasises creating an inclusive learning environment that supports the diverse needs of learners with SEN, enabling them to succeed alongside their peers.

1.4 Generic Skills

Generic skills are embedded within all subjects and are essential for learning and workforce readiness. These skills enable learners to engage with the entire curriculum effectively and prepare them for lifelong learning. These skills equip learners with the ability to adapt to change and navigate life's challenges in the 21st century.

The key generic skills include:

Critical thinking and problem-solving

- i) Planning and carrying out investigations
- ii) Sorting and analysing information
- iii) Identifying problems and proposing solutions
- iv) Predicting outcomes and making reasoned decisions
- v) Evaluating different solutions

Co-operation and Self-Directed Learning

- i) Working effectively in diverse teams
- ii) Interacting effectively with others
- iii) Taking responsibility for own learning
- iv) Working independently with persistence
- v) Managing goals and time

Creativity and Innovation

- i) Using imaginations to explore possibilities
- ii) Working with others to generate ideas
- iii) Suggesting and developing new solutions
- iv) Experimenting with innovative alternatives
- v) Looking for patterns and making generalisation

Communication

- i) Listening attentively and with comprehension
- ii) Talking confidently and explaining ideas/opinions clearly
- iii) Reading accurately and fluently
- iv) Writing and presenting information coherently
- v) Using a range of media to communicate ideas

Mathematical Computation

- i) Using numbers and measurements accurately
- ii) Interpreting and interrogating mathematical data
- iii) Using mathematics to justify and support decisions

Information and Communication Technology (ICT) Proficiency

- i) Using technology to create, manipulate and process information
- ii) Using technology to collaborate, communicate and refine work

Diversity and Multicultural Skills

- i) Appreciate cultural diversity
- ii) Respectfully responding to people of all cultures
- iii) Respecting positive cultural practices
- iv) Appreciating ethnicity as a cradle for creativity and innovation

1.5 Cross-cutting Issues

These are issues which young people need to learn about, and are not confined to a particular subject but are studied across subjects. They help learners to develop an understanding of the connections between the subjects and the complexities of life as a whole. They are;

- Environmental awareness
- Health awareness
- Life skills
- Mixed abilities and involvement
- Socio-economic challenges
- Citizenship and patriotism

These are a concern to all humankind irrespective of their areas of speciality. They are infused in the different learning outcomes of the different subjects.

1.6 Values

The curriculum is based on a clear set of values. These values underpin the whole curriculum and the work of schools. Learners need to base themselves on these values as citizens of Uganda. These values are derived from the Uganda National Ethics and Values Policy of 2013. They are:

- i) respect for humanity and environment
- ii) honesty, uphold and defend them at all times
- iii) Justice and dealing with others
- iv) hard work for self-reliance
- v) integrity; moral uprightness and sound character
- vi) creativity and innovation
- vii) social responsibility
- viii) social harmony
- ix) national unity
- x) national consciousness and patriotism.

These are not taught directly in lessons, nor are they assessed by pen and paper. However, they are incorporated in some learning outcomes and are developed as learners progress.

1.7 ICT Integration

The integration of ICTs into teaching and learning is strongly encouraged in this A-level adapted curriculum. ICT enhances the implementation of competency-based learning by fostering learner engagement, creativity, and lifelong learning. Teachers are encouraged to use technology to create interactive content, such as digital simulations and videos, to illustrate abstract or complex concepts effectively. Integrating ICT not only enhances the learning experience but also equips learners with essential digital skills for the 21st century.

ICT teachers should endeavour to assist other subject teachers in making the ICT integration process a reality. The table below shows a sample of suggested ICT tools that may be applied to given tasks.

Sample Task in the Syllabus	Suggested ICT Tool
Fieldwork	Use of cameras to take photos and record videos
Locate places on a map	Use digital maps such as Google Maps or an equivalent application.
Presentation in class	Use presentation applications or online presentation tools like Canva
Search for keywords and meanings	Use an online dictionary or search online
Make drawing/graphics	Use drawing tools like Draw.io or publishing software/Word processor
Roleplay, narrations	Use audio and video recordings
Demonstrations	Use audio/video recordings, models, simulations, or virtual labs
Analyse and present data	Use spreadsheet software or any other analytics tools
Group discussions	Mind mapping software
Search for extra reading materials	Download files from the Internet from academic Databases
Writing equations and formulae	Use equation editors like MathType
Carry out academic search/research	Use the Internet, AI models, and other academic applications like “Encarta”, “Britannica”, etc.
Collaborate with others across the world	Form learning networks with blogs, social media, emails, and videoconferencing tools like Zoom, MS Teams, Webex, Google Meet or any other networking application.

1.8 Projects

Projects and project-based learning are part and parcel of learning in the 21st century. In Literature in English, the learner will be required to write their own prose pieces, poetry anthology, a one-act drama script and a novella; plus, any other customised projects given in this subject. These projects will promote academic research and development of varied skills on any given topic under study. The teacher is encouraged to guide learners to create projects that can easily be customised/linked to what is happening in their local environment. Learning through these projects will give the learner an opportunity to engage in personal research under the guidance of the teacher through which they can present a coherent, reasoned, and well-structured write up/product that effectively communicates their ideas and findings.

1.9 The Aims of Secondary Education

The aims of secondary education in Uganda are to:

- i) instill and promote national unity, an understanding of the social and civic responsibilities, strong love and care for others and respect for public property, as well as an appreciation of international relations and beneficial international co-operation
- ii) promote an appreciation and understanding of the cultural heritage of Uganda including its languages
- iii) impart and promote a sense of self discipline, ethical and spiritual values, personal and collective responsibility and initiative
- iv) enable individuals to acquire and develop knowledge and an understanding of emerging needs of society and the economy
- v) provide up-date and comprehensive knowledge in theoretical and practical aspects of innovative production, modern management methods in the field of commerce and industry and their application in the context of socio-economic development of Uganda
- vi) enable individuals to develop basic scientific, technological, technical, agricultural and commercial skills required for self-employment
- vii) enable individuals to develop personal skills of problem solving, information gathering and interpretation, independent reading and writing, self-improvement through learning and development of social, physical and leadership skills such as those obtained through games, sports, societies and clubs
- viii) lay the foundation for further education
- ix) enable the individual to apply acquired skills in solving problems of community, and to develop a strong sense of constructive and beneficial belonging to that community

- x) instill positive attitudes towards productive work and strong respect for the dignity of labour and those who engage in its productive activities
- xi) develop a positive attitude towards learning as a lifelong process.

1.10 Aims of the Advanced Secondary Curriculum

- i) To adopt a Competency-based Learning Approach.
- ii) To develop holistic education for personal and national development based on clear-shared values.
- iii) To develop key skills which are essential to work and life; and promote life-long learning.
- iv) To adopt an integrated approach to learning that develops the ability of learners to apply learning.
- v) To improve on assessments by incorporating school-based assessment into End of Cycle Assessment.
- vi) To emphasise learner's participation through engagement with the community.
- vii) To prepare learners for further education.

1.11 Rationale for Teaching Literature in English at Advanced Level

The Advanced Level Literature in English syllabus aims to:

- i) develop reading for pleasure and increase learners' language proficiency
- ii) develop learners' personal life skills like problem-solving, critical thinking; decision making, creativity, researching and managing information systematically
- iii) shape the affective, develop the cognitive and apply the psychomotor skills
- iv) appreciate the differences across the various genres
- v) appreciate their own cultural heritage and that of others
- vi) cultivate appropriate attitude to life
- vii) develop and exhibit values e.g. honesty, integrity, patriotism, unity, empathy etc.

1.12 Subject Overview

The syllabus treats the four main genres of Literature in English: Prose and Poetry, Drama/Plays and The Novel and the Short Story, as individual topics: Prose (topic one), Poetry (topic two), Drama/Plays (topic three), and The Novel and the Short Story (topic four). These topics will be taught, learned, and assessed on a weekly basis to provide learners with the specialised skills needed to appreciate, write, and publish both their own and others' literary works. The teaching and learning process of this subject emphasises effective communication, creativity, innovation, and the real-life application of acquired knowledge and skills; both inside and outside the classroom. The teacher is strongly encouraged to prioritise skills development to help the learner achieve the required proficiency levels.

1.13 Time Allocation

Learners at this level, will participate in 09 (nine) 40-minute periods per week from Senior Five to Senior Six.

1.14 Suggested Approaches to Teaching Literature in English

The suggested approaches enhance learning and empower teachers to support learners as they prepare for assessment. This will necessitate the teacher to work alongside learners to guide, direct, support and supervise them as they progress through the research process. These approaches include:

- i) Inquiry-based learning: learners are encouraged to investigate through research directed by their interest and solve problems through series of questions and scenarios enhancing critical thinking, communication and research skills.
- ii) Experiential learning: learners actively participate in hands-on experiences during research and learn through reflecting upon what they are doing which leads to development of reflective skills.
- iii) Problem and project-based learning: learners find solutions to problems through their experience in research and projects. This leads to development of critical thinking, social and research skills.
- iv) Case-based learning: learners refer to real world scenarios to discuss and analyse them, which enables them develop critical thinking, analytical and research skills.
- v) Discovery learning: learners construct their own knowledge through active participation, exploration and inquiry, which encourages them to critically think, ask questions and hypothesise through research.

1.15 Guidance to the Teacher: How to Teach Literature in English at this Level

1. The four main genres of Literature in English: Prose, Poetry, Drama/Plays, and The Novel and the Short Story are treated as individual topics in this syllabus. Prose (topic one), Poetry (topic two), Drama/Plays (topic three), and The Novel and the Short Story (topic four).
2. Each topic will be taught, learned, and assessed weekly (Refer to the guidance in the Programme Planner chart). The recommended sequence is: Prose, Poetry, Drama/Plays, and The Novel and the Short Story.
3. The formula/format used for the sub-topics indicates the topic, and subtopic to be handled per week, such as 1.1, meaning topic one (Prose) of subtopic/week one, and 3.7, meaning topic three (Drama/Plays), sub-topic/week seven, respectively.
4. Prose is used as an introductory topic; addressing most generic aspects and elements, with other topics frequently referring back to it. However, the unique features and aspects of each genre should be carefully identified and given utmost attention.

5. Both drama and plays will be taught: drama as written works that can be read, and plays as the performance of drama on stage.
6. Make a clear distinction between reminiscence and flashback.
7. The teacher is encouraged to carefully select appropriate excerpts, passages, texts, props, costumes, and other materials as they plan their lessons.
8. The suggested teaching/learning activities and assessment strategies are not exhaustive but samples upon which the teacher will be expected to build on. They are to serve as guidance to the teacher to develop more activities that are appropriate to their teaching/learning environment.

1.17 Note to users:

Each topic has a competency, which is a broad statement that brings out what the learner is expected to do at the end of the topic. The competency is broken down into learning outcomes, for which suggested learning activities and sample assessment strategies are developed as represented in the three columns below.

Learning Outcomes	Suggested Learning Activities	Sample Assessment Strategy
A statement of the knowledge, understanding, skills, generic skills, values, and attitudes expected to be learned by the end of the topic. Hence each learning outcome is coded with some of these as k, u, s, gs and v/a for emphasis to the teacher on what to consider during the lesson.	The sort of hands and minds on engagements, which enable the learner to achieve the learning outcome including the generic skills and values. They are designed to enable learners to Discover, Explain, Apply and Analyse (DEAA) as they participate in knowledge construction.	Opportunities for assessment within the learning process that is, during and after the lesson.

The learning activities and assessment strategies in the syllabus are “suggested” and “samples” respectively and not exhaustive. The Teacher is encouraged to develop more learning activities and assessment strategies that are based on the learning outcomes. In addition, the teacher is free to customise the suggested learning activities to make them suitable for their respective learning environments and for learners with Special Educational Needs (SEN).

3.0 ASSESSMENT

3.1 Assessing Literature in English

This Advanced Secondary Curriculum sets new expectations for learning, with a shift from Objectives to Learning Outcomes that focus mainly on the application of knowledge and deeper learning that leads to the acquisition of skills. These Learning Outcomes require a different approach to assessment. The “Learning Outcomes” in the syllabi are set out in terms of Knowledge, Understanding, Skills, Values and Attitudes. This is what is referred to by the letters k, u, s v & a.

It is not possible to assess values and attitudes in the same way as knowledge, understanding, and skills because they are more personal and variable, and are long-term aspirations. This does not mean that values and attitudes are not important or cannot be assessed. They too can be assessed but not easily done through tests and examinations. Values and attitudes can be assessed over a period of time through observing and having interactions with the learner.

To assess knowledge and its application, understanding, and skills, we need to look for different things. Knowledge can be assessed to some extent through written tests, but the assessment of skills, application of what is learnt, and deeper understanding requires different approaches. Because of this, the role of the teacher in assessment becomes much more important. This section focuses on knowledge, understanding, and skills.

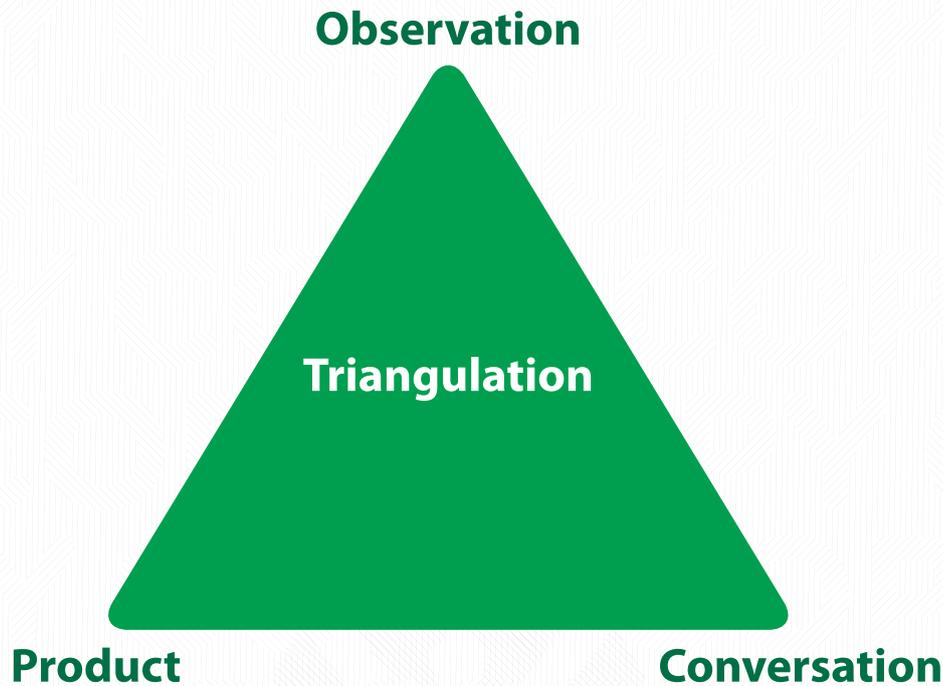

3.2 Formative Assessment

In this curriculum, the teacher’s role in assessment is not only to write tests for the learner but also to make a professional judgment about the learner’s learning during the teaching and learning process. The professional judgment is about how far the learner achieves the Learning Outcomes that are set out in this syllabus. To make these judgments the teacher needs to look at how well the learner is performing in terms of each Learning Outcome.

The formative assessment opportunities occur in three forms. They can be done through:

- Observation – watching learners working (good for assessing skills, values and attitudes)
- Conversation – asking questions and talking to learners (good for assessing knowledge and understanding)
- Product – appraising the learner’s work (writing, report, translation, presentation, diagram, publication, costumes, props etc). In this context, a “product” is seen as something physical and permanent that the teacher can keep and look at.

When all three formative assessment opportunities are used, the information from any one of them can be checked against the other two forms (e.g. evidence from “observation” can be checked against evidence from “conversation” and “product”). This is often referred to as “triangulation”.

3.3 Assessing Generic Skills

The Generic Skills have been built into the syllabus and are part of the Learning Outcomes. It is therefore not necessary to assess them separately. It is the increasingly complex context of the subject content that provides progression in the Generic Skills, and so they are assessed as part of the subject Learning Outcomes. Assessing generic skills is done with the help of an observation checklist and scoring rubric.

3.4 Assessing Values/Attitudes

It is not possible to assess values and attitudes in the same way as knowledge, understanding and skills because they are more personal and variable and are long-term aspirations. This does not mean that attitudes are not important. It means that we must value things that we cannot easily assess through tests and examinations. However, values and attitudes can be assessed over a long period of time through observing and interactions.

3.5 Assessment of Project-based Learning

Project-based learning is a teaching method in which learners or participants gain knowledge and skills by engaging for an extended period of time to investigate and respond to an authentic challenge. The task must have a driving question and involves sustained inquiry.

Project-based learning is assessed using a rubric and an observation checklist.

3.6 Record Keeping

In competency-based learning, accurate and comprehensive record keeping is crucial to track the learner's progress and achievement. Therefore, the teacher and school must keep accurate records about the learner's achievement.

Various assessment tools and strategies are employed to capture the learner's demonstration of abilities and achievements, including observation checklists, rubrics, and scoring grids. These tools provide a holistic picture of the learner's strengths, weaknesses, and areas for improvement.

The collected data and evidence from these assessments are correctly recorded and maintained in the learner's file, portfolio and anecdotal notes.

A Glossary of Key Terms

Term	Definition
competency curriculum	One in which learners develop the ability to apply their learning with confidence in a range of situations.
differentiation	The design or adaptation of learning experiences to suit an individual learner's needs, strengths, preferences, and abilities.
formative assessment	The process of judging a learner's performance, by interpreting the responses to tasks, in order to gauge progress and inform subsequent learning steps.
generic skills	Skills which are deployed in all subjects, and which enhance the learning of those subjects. These skills also equip young people for work and for life.
inclusion	An approach to planning learning experiences which allows each student to feel confident, respected and safe and equipped to learn at his or her full potential.
learning outcome	A statement which specifies what the learner should know, understand, or be able to do within a particular aspect of a subject.
process skill	A capability acquired by following the programme of study in a particular Learning Area; enables a learner to apply the knowledge and understanding of the Learning Area.
sample assessment activity	An activity which gives a learner the opportunity to show the extent to which s/he has achieved the Learning Outcomes. This is usually part of the normal teaching and learning process, and not something extra at the end of a topic.
suggested learning activity	An aspect of the normal teaching and learning process that will enable a formative assessment to be made.
