SECTION B: 50 MARKS

Questions 51 to 55 carry ten marks each.

51. Read the passage below and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

All the necessary procedure had been followed and all of us were successfully registered for Primary Leaving Examination 2025 at our school Mt. Zion Academy. This made all the candidates overjoyed after that successful registration. Our P.7 teachers 2025 congratulated us on maintaining that registration is one step to sitting Primary Leaving Examination.

After the registration, the head teacher, Mr. Clovis Mwita assembled us all. He guided us on how to prepare ourselves for Primary Leaving Examination (PLE). He didn't want us to shame our mighty school. In his words he said, 'Excelling in exams is not about being taught in class, but sacrificing oneself.' He urged us to make personal revision timetables, consult teachers for what still disturbs us and engaging in discussion groups. 'These groups enable you master the learnt concepts and remember what you have forgotten as you learn from one another,' he added.

On behalf of the teachers, Mr. Gonzaga Gonza, the class coordinator urged us to be good time managers. He added that time management boosts our confidence while doing different activities, as it relieves us of panic due to rushing. He reminded us that hard work with discipline would be key to better grades.

The pupils' representative rose and promised the staff that we would uphold the academic excellence of the school. She maintained that the pupils knew exactly what was ahead of them, so hard work would be their daily meal. All of us gave him praise. He surely said what we were already practising. We were then encouraged not to lose track during our preparations to sit the very first National examination. Adequate preparations have been made and we feel rather ready to excel in Primary Leaving Examination 2025.

53. Read the poem below and then answer, in full sentences, the question that follow.

In my village where I stay,
People steal both night and day,
No one trusts the one next door,
Children grow and learn to lie,
And good people just pass by,

Farms are raided in the night,
Even when there is bright moonlight,
You plant maize, they take all of it,
Even clothes hung on the wall,
Thieves make life a daily test,

Once we had a good, clean name,
Now our name is one of shame.
Visitors no longer come ,
They fear our village everyone
What was once admired is now so wrong,

I love my village Tiribogo
But I feel sad and angry too
I want my village to be fair
But now it is dark and full of lies
I only watch with teary eyes

54. Mr. Wamboya was going to his polling centre to vote for LC1 chairperson of his village, and he met a student who put him into a conversation. The words of Mr. Wamboya are given. Complete with what you think were the student's words.

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: Good morning, young man.

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: No, this is not the route to the village polling centre. What do you want from there?

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: I am glad to learn that you are a polling agent for one of those who contested the post of the LC 1 chairperson. Actually, I am heading there. Let us go together.

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: I am going there to vote for one of the contestants?

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: I think there are three people who contested for that post. For whom are you a polling agent?

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: Oh! Are you a son of Mr. Mwasa?

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: I can see. You even resemble him.

Student:

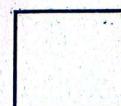

Mr. Wamboya: In my opinion, elections are organized to enable people choose leaders on their own.

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: That's true. Sometimes election results are rigged.

Student:

Mr. Wamboya: We can have free and fair elections by ensuring that the electoral body is not one-sided.
