Item 1.

Kampala Innovation and Technology Forum (KITF) is preparing a major annual conference next month for innovators, researchers, and industry leaders. However, many intended participants are not fully informed.

Public Relations Officer, Joan, is tasked with preparing materials to promote the conference and manage official invitations. She must prepare visually appealing document for use during the event to explain its purpose and expected outcomes in a big room, and another to formally invite selected participants (Only members with 10 or more registered clients, qualify to attend and their actual age indicated in the document).

Joan, a friend of your relative, has limited ICT skills and needs assistance.

Participant records are stored in UCE UMTA support files.

Task:

Help Joan prepare all necessary documents.

Item 2.

TechNova Electronics Ltd is a newly established company that sells modern electronic gadgets such as smartphones, laptops, tablets, smart watches, headphones, and digital accessories. Currently the company makes small profits because customers must visit the shop physically to access product, make inquiries, and give feedback, limiting customer engagement.

The company intends to expand its market by creating an online presence where customers can explore products, compare gadgets, and communicate with the sales team.

Having discovered that you have got some knowledge of ICT, they have contacted you to develop an interactive platform that will meet needs of the company.

Support documents to help in this are provided in UCE UMTA support files

Task:

Develop for them an online interactive digital platform for TechNova Electronics Ltd to promote its services and improve customer interaction.
